DataScape for Loan Servicers

Cloud-Based Data Delivery Framework

Reduce Management Costs | Expand Data Access | Streamline Operational Insights

DataScape is a flexible, cloud-based framework built for loan servicers to improve how they use data to manage operations and gain business insights. Unlike other solutions available in the market, DataScape removes the barriers of complicated tools and costs, making it easy to access data. By transforming complex operational and portfolio data into information usable by management to drive better outcomes, DataScape makes the lending experience better for everyone.

Reduce Management Costs

It shouldn't be difficult or costly to access what already belongs to you.

Loan servicers face several common data challenges that make it difficult to access their own data rapidly and at a reasonable cost. How many of the below resonate for your organization?

• Data complexity has increased; more data is needed to do the job of servicing.
• Data is stored in silos, which can create reporting inaccuracies as a query against one data source will be different than the answer from another.
• Decisions that need data can be delayed while data is located and linked together, limiting the ability to improve analytics of servicing.
• It can be quite costly to build a data system internally to servicer operations.

DataScape addresses these challenges by moving massive amounts of data into a cloud-based framework suited for reporting and analytics. This data is held in a business-friendly structure that is easy to understand by anyone familiar with servicing.

Sagent makes data nimble to reduce costs in your technology and business environment.
